

Security of e-mail servers

Microsoft Forefront Security for Exchange Server protects e-mail servers against viruses, bugs and spam, thanks to which optimal use of Microsoft Exchange Server for safe communication is possible. The product – formerly known as Microsoft Antigen – is one of the members of the Microsoft Forefront Security family. The solution contains a few antivirus scanners provided by the leading producers of security systems. More information on the topic: Microsoft Forefront Security for Exchange Server.